

Dear KRI Summit Participants,

We would like to thank each of you for allowing us to be a part of your recent Trainers' summit. We are grateful for your welcome, openness, courage, and engagement during our brief time together. Each of us was touched by this meeting, and left with a desire to get to know you better as individuals and as a group.

It takes risk to entrust outsiders with a role in these complex personal, spiritual, and organizational issues. As we work over the coming months to develop the Compassionate Reconciliation Commission and its approach to community engagement, we will be listening carefully to your needs and concerns as Trainers and will ensure that these needs are meaningfully addressed in the work ahead. We will also endeavor to keep you up to date on our progress as we move forward. We hope to earn your trust over time, as we work alongside you in service of your community.

As we explained during our presentation, the Compassionate Reconciliation process will unfold in carefully phased stages, each of which will be designed in collaboration with the CRC. With so many details therefore still emerging, we recognize that this process will require some patience. Please rest assured that we are firmly committed to the timely success of this work, and to its ongoing impact. We are guided by the proverb, "if you want to go fast, go alone. If you want to go far, go together."

Some of you may have unanswered questions following last week's presentation. Over the coming weeks we will be preparing a Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) sheet concerning the Compassionate Reconciliation process. If you have questions for us, please send them to your KRI leadership so that we may address them in our FAQ.

For those of you who may be interested in contributing to the work of the Compassionate Reconciliation Commission, please feel free to communicate your interest to KRI (hck@kriteachings.com), or by filling out this brief survey (<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/MX5FHZV>) and stating your interest in the comments. Attached to this message, you will also find some information related to our presentations at the Summit:

1. Word Clouds: these were your responses to the question “What are the community values that enable us to make the healing journey?”

2. “Layers of a Crisis” Discussion Page: our invitation with this is to connect with a trusted colleague, friend or support person within your community to discuss these themes. How might experiences of Disempowerment, Disconnection and/or Disorder be showing up for you personally in these times?

Thank you once again for your welcome, and for your service to your community. We look forward to working with you!

In peace,

Catherine Bargaen, Aaron Lyons, and Matthew Hartman
